To Share the Eucharist

One of the many lovely things about our Catholic faith is that we can share together the blessings of the Eucharist. Over the past 2000 years there have been many different words or phrases used for what we now perhaps are more familiar with calling THE MASS - the different words all highlight one or more particular aspects of what we are doing when we gather together for THE LORD'S SUPPER, the Synaxis (the gathering) the Holy Liturgy, the breaking of the bread. To deliberately come together in one place , to receive that ' daily bread' which nourishes us and keeps us going on our Christian journey through life, to commemorate what the Lord did at the Last Supper and on Calvary..... all of these and many other things are represented by the teaching of the Second Vatican Council when it spoke of there being two tables set before us at Mass...the Table of God's Word and the table of the Holy Eucharist. Both tables nourish us by the good things which are presented to us, both tables gather us around them not as strangers but as friends and fellow pilgrims on the journey.

As in every Eucharistic celebration, the Risen Lord is encountered in the Sunday assembly at the twofold table of the word and of the Bread of Life. The table of the word offers the same understanding of the history of salvation and especially of the Paschal Mystery which the Risen Jesus himself gave to his disciples: it is Christ who speaks, present as he is in his word "when Sacred Scripture is read in the Church". At the table of the Bread of Life, the Risen Lord becomes really, substantially and enduringly present through the memorial of his Passion and Resurrection, and the Bread of Life is offered as a pledge of future glory. The Second Vatican Council recalled that "the Liturgy of the Word and the Liturgy of the Eucharist are so closely joined together that they form a single act of worship".

Pope Saint John Paul II, Dies Domini (the day of the Lord) paragraph 39, 1998
